NELSON ELECTED SUPERVISOR

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT BADLY DEFEATED.

Payne Re-elected School Commissioner.

Monday's election in Grayling township presented the usual upsets. Tony Nelson, Democratic candidate for the office of supervisor, defeated Frank Barnett, the present incumbent by a majority of 53 votes while Carl Sorenson, Republican, defeated Thomas Cassidy for clerk by a majority of 376. Besides clerk, the Republicans elected their candidates for treasurer; member of Board of Review; overseers of highways and four constables, while our Democratic friends helped themselves to supervisor highway commissioner, and justice of the peace.

On the state ballot, the Republicans made a clean sweep with wide margins of majority. John W. Payne was easy victor for the office of school commissioner of the county in which capacity he has served for the past ten years, having a majority of 235.

All the amendments offered by the state were defeated here also through the state. The Capital punishment bill was decisively defeated in each township except that of South Branch which gave it a good margin in favor.

In Grayling township there were 656 votes cast 69 of which were straight Republican and 65 straight Democratic; the remainder were split. The polls opened at 8:00 a. m. and closed at 6:00 p. m. It took until about 8:00 o'clock the following morning to count and record the votes in Grayling township.

The inspectors say the voting was so split up that it was slow counting. Republican Ticket Loses In Frederic.

The candidates on the Citizens ticket at Frederic turned the tables on their Republican friends by sweeping the field clean. This is the first time in many years that the Republicans have not been in complete control. Ray Murphy, E. A. Corsaut, Geo. Horton and James Pratt were elected over Jay O'Dell, R. K. Gunther, Carl Johnson and Erroy Barber for the offices of Supervisor, Clerk, Treasurer and Highway Commissioner respectively. About 150 votes were cast in Frederic.

Lively Election in Lovells. Supervisor James E. Kellogg was quite surprised to wake up on election morning and learn that one Kide Kibbler was a slip candidate for that office. Mr. Kellogg was elected by a vote of 30 to 20.

Charles Papenhus, running on slips, was defeated for the office of Highway Commissioner by Clarence Stillwagon the regular nominee. Ruth Caid was elected clerk and John Sunday, treasurer.

Beaver Creek Too Had Slip Candidates.

George Annis was a candidate in Beaver Creek township for the office of Supervisor running on slips and came within two votes of tying with Arthur Skingley the Republican candidate. Bert Confer was a slip candidate for Highway Commissioner. The entire Republican ticket was elected. The new officers are Arthur Skingley, supervisor; John LaMotte, clerk; Bernard Godfrey, treasurer; and Herman Miller, highway commissioner.

Quiet Election At Maple Forest. Maple Forest township election went off with but little excitement. Rufus Edmonds was returned as supervisor; Hemming Peterson was elected clerk; Stanley Hummel, treasurer and Archie Howse, Jr., highway commissioner.

South Branch Union Ticket Wins. With exception of one candidate, the Union ticket candidates were elected in South Branch township. Boyd Funsch was elected treasurer on the Republican ticket. Other candidates elected are Sydney A. Dyer, supervisor; John F. Floeter, clerk; Fred H. Hartman, commissioner of highways.

LOCAL FIRM GETS RADIO ORDER FROM ABROAD

Not many local firms can boast of receiving orders and money by radiogram. Last Saturday the Cowell Institute received the following message which had been radioted to America and thence transmitted to Grayling by wire:

Cowell Institute, Grayling, Mich.

"Money cabled, mail immediately latest 3 in 1 course."

R. Glemo, 84 Chamberlain Road, East London, England.

This course cost $25.00 and Mr. Cowell says he received the money the next day. Orders come in, he says, from all parts of the world but that this is the first one he received by radiogram.

CIRCUIT COURT STARTS APRIL 14

ONLY FIVE CASES ON CALENDAR. JURY DRAWN.

It looks like a short term of court ahead for Judge Smith when he begins the term here Tuesday at 1:00 p. m. The only case on the criminal calendar is that of George E. Robinson, charged with embezzlement. This was sufficient to cause Prosecuting Attorney Insley to order a jury drawn.

There are three chancery cases, one of which is the petition of Auditor General O. B. Fuller to sell certain lands, delinquent in taxes, for the taxes assessed thereon. A decree for this petition will keep court in session three days for the statutes require that a decree cannot be granted before the third day of the term. So Judge Smith may find time to pick artubus, see the sights or visit friends, as he prefers.

Two more chancery cases are those of Edith F. LaMotte vs. Walter J. LaMotte. The action is a petition for rehearing.

The third chancery case is that of Andrew Hart's petition to sell inchoate (whatever that means) right of dower.

List of Jurors

The list of jurors for this term of court is as follows:

7:30 p. m.—The greatest people in Grayling.

Certainly (By Ella H. Eckel)

Said the snow to the crocus peeping through:

"Well, I must be going; Adieu! Adieu!"

Sang the crocus blue to the soft spring rain:

"I cannot stay long but I'll come again!"

Soon the jonquils and the daffodils

Were laughing with the pale green hills

And a little boy with tousled hair

Raced with the wind, and then and there

A grown folk, wise beyond children's ken,

Sniffed the air: "What? Spring? Again?"

TO THE NATIONAL LEAGUE

I want to thank the Sisters, also the officers and members of the League for the beautiful plant that I received before Easter Sunday.

Many thanks to the many friends for same.

M. P. S. INSTALLS MASTER CLOCK

A telechron master clock has been installed by Michigan Public Service Company to provide electric time service to Grayling and vicinity. Henceforth all current will be exactly regulated so that it will provide accurate time by wire to owners of electric clocks.

The telechron master clock is an instrument which indicates directly to the power station operator any accumulated time error due to any error in the number of cycles of alternating current which have been sent out by the revolving generators. Most generators are intended to run at a speed which will send out 60 cycles per second or 3600 per minute. If the number of cycles actually sent out per minute is greater or less than the normal number, the telechron master clock directly indicates the amount of time error and thus enables the power station operator to correct the generator speed.

The time-keeping element of the master clock is so carefully constructed that it is capable of running with an error of less than one second a day. Furthermore, the power station checks it daily with time signals from the Naval Observatory at Washington, D. C.

For the private clock owner the operation of the complicated electric time system, now nation-wide, is simplicity itself. First he gets a telechron clock—telechron being a combination of the Greek word "telos" and "chronos" meaning "time from a distance"—which are also made by the manufacturers of the master clocks, the Warren Telechron Company, of Ashland, Mass. These electric clocks, available in many designs, contain tiny motors which are perpetually synchronized with the master clock in the power station. They have no springs and escapements to get out of order, as in the spring-driven timekeeper, and they never need winding, regulating, cleaning or oiling—you set them and forget them.

All the clock owner has to do is to plug the electric cord attached to the telechron clock into any current outlet just as he does a vacuum cleaner or a lamp, and the clock starts automatically. In the back of the clock is a small knob with which it is set.

When any error, no matter how small, is shown by the master clock in the power house, the operator there changes the frequency of the current, and the correction is automatically registered on the telechron clocks in homes and offices. In the event of an interruption of power, the telechron clock will stop and a small red dot will appear on the dial to show that it is not giving correct time. When the power starts the clock again it should be reset.

HOME ECONOMICS DEPARTMENT

Since the Home Economics department is a small community by itself the Seventh Grade Sewing class decided to divide itself into two cities, Healthville and Citizenville. These cities have been carrying out an interesting contest for the past six weeks which has just come to a close.

The losing city, "Healthville," gave Citizenville a very jolly Easter party Thursday night of last week. The party was held in the Home Economics room. An appetizing supper was enjoyed by the girls after which contests and games were enjoyed.

Virginia Kraus, Celesta Neal and Dorothy Johnson won the contest prizes.

THANKS THE VOTERS

I wish to thank the voters of Grayling Township for their liberal support in electing me for the office of Highway Commissioner.

James McDonnell.

DOINGS OF MICH. LEGISLATURE

The debate on prohibition, called as a public hearing on Rep. Robt. Wardell's joint resolution calling for repeal of the state prohibition law, turned out to be a good show for close to 600 people who crowded into Representative hall the other night.

The Detroit representatives led the wet forces, while Rev. R. N. Holsapple, superintendent of the Michigan Anti-Saloon League, was the leader for the dries. The debate lasted for four hours, during which the speakers for both sides forgot all about the resolution as they went into the "fundamentals" of prohibition. Sealkers for both sides argued they were seeking only for real temperance. Cheers, laughter and boos from the gallery spurred the speakers to their best efforts. The battle ended without a decision for either side.

Many Tax Proposals.

A tax on theater goers; an income tax; a tax on oleomargarine; a tax on tobacco and sales tax. These are some of the proposals getting the attention of the Michigan Legislature as it swings into its last weeks of the present session.

For every proposal for a new tax there is one or more ways suggested for spending the money. The taxpayer is given little voice in the proceedings but his turn will come as it usually does at election time.

The income tax has been voted down on two occasions each time by decisive majorities. Rep. William J. Thomas of Kent county, introduced two income tax measures, one on individual incomes and the other affecting corporations, and he would use the $30,000,000 which is estimated would be raised under his plan to relieve the property tax for state purposes, and would also repeal the corporation tax which now amounts to about $7,000,000 annually. The tax plan follows closely the federal income tax law. One per cent would be paid on net incomes up to $1,000, going up to 6 per cent for net incomes above $5,000.

The Sales Tax.

The Dykstra-McBride sales tax would require all retail merchants to register and pay a $2.00 license fee, with a tax of half a mill on gross receipts above $25,000, up to 1 per cent on gross sales above $1,000,000. Sponsors of the measure estimate it would raise $10,000,000 a year. C. V. Fenner of the Home Defense League, an organization of retail merchants, appeared as spokesman for the bill at a public hearing held last week. Gov. Brooker has indicated interest in the plan but has not committed himself definitely, other than to repeat that some form of special tax seemed imperative if Michigan was to take care of its obligations without further increasing the property tax.

Wayne representatives opposed the tax on oleomargarine but the bill passed the House by a vote of 58 to 34 after the proposed tax was fixed at six cents a pound. Representatives of the rural districts contended such a tax against this product, made from an oil that comes into the nation duty free, was necessary to save the dairy industry. The bill was introduced by Rep. Milo Johnson of Greenville and now goes to the Senate.

Revive Tobacco Levy.

Senator Lennon had dropped the tobacco tax bill which he had introduced, but a measure almost identical was introduced in the House by Rep. Fred McEachron, Ottawa county. It would tax all tobaccos 10 per cent and cigarettes would be taxed one cent for each ten cigarettes. License fees for wholesalers would be $25 and retailers would pay $5.

Townships, cities, counties and school districts would be permitted to borrow money in anticipation of tax collections under a bill passed by both branches and now before the Governor for approval. The bill, introduced by Senator Woodruff of Wyandotte, sets up machinery for the issuance of notes and their repayment.

Report Districting Plan.

Rep. Wardell of Detroit, chairman of the apportionment committee, was unable to keep the other members of his committee from reporting out, with a recommendation that it be passed, the Harding reapportionment plan, which was passed by the Senate. Wardell argued that it would be declared unconstitutional because under it some districts have but 186,000 population, while other districts have as much as 400,000. The plan does give Detroit and Wayne county five of the 17 congressional, and also an interest in a sixth. Wardell says he had introduced another bill which gave Wayne county the same representation, but which adhered more closely to the 285,000 population for each district in the territory outside his county. When Rep. Robert Lane, Bay City, motioned that the Harding bill be reported out without amendment, he was seconded by Rep. Henry Douville of Alpena and all members of the committee present voted for it except Rep. Wardell. Rep. Charles Haight of Lansing, whose motion to amend had been defeated, voted to report the measure out, but said he would fight for a change in the sixth district when the bill came up on the floor of the house.

Many of the Wayne representatives favor the Harding plan because it gives their county more representation than they expected to get from a legislature with a majority from the small centers of population, and the outside members are favoring it because it creates the districts in such a way as not to interfere with the present members of congress.

An Annual Session.

Most every term a proposal is submitted for an annual session. Usually the bill dies in committee. This term it remained for Senator Conlon of Grand Rapids to introduce such a bill. He would have the legislature consider financial measures one session and general legislation the next.

Lansing's hopes of getting a tract of valuable state land for an airport received a setback when Senator Campbell of Indian River asked that his bill giving the Administrative Board power to sell or lease state land to any county, city or village agreeing to use it for airports, be referred. Lansing is now using 300 acres of state land for an airport but is reluctant to spend any money developing it until such time as the city has been protected in its rights.

Veterans' Homesteads.

Michigan veterans of the World War, married or widowed with children would be given rights to homestead 40 or 80 acres of state land for farm purposes, and would be paid $300 a year for three years, under a plan introduced by Rep. Frank P. Darin. To gain title to the land they would have to clear at least five acres during each of five years. Rep. Darin points out that this would not only help veterans without jobs in cities, but it would also benefit the state in the long run because it is one way to get tax delinquent lands back on the tax rolls.

Other plans suggested to spend state funds include: $100,000 to erect 400 camps as Chatham, proposed by

ISAAC LA MOTTE PASSED AWAY

Funeral Held Wednesday Morning

Friends of Isaac David LaMotte were grieved to learn of his death that occurred at Receiving hospital in Detroit Saturday evening at 7:00 o'clock. The young man began ailing last November and for some time was a patient at Mercy hospital but steadily grew worse and the week previous to his death was taken to Detroit but their efforts were in vain. With him in Detroit when the end came was his wife and daughter Betty and his brother Frank.

The funeral which was very largely attended was held Wednesday morning with a requiem high mass at St. Mary's church, celebrated by Rev. Fr. Culligan who also delivered a very impressive sermon. Interment was in Elmwood cemetery, the following acting as pallbearers, Curry Sheehy, William Heric, William Laurant, Wilfred Laurant, Edore LaBrash and Earle Hewitt. The former four were fellow workmen of the deceased at the Kerry & Hanson plant.

The deceased was born in Grayling May 5, 1891. He was united in marriage on November 27, 1915, to Miss Alice Cariveau. Most of his life was spent in Grayling, except that for the last seven years he had made his home in Detroit, where he was an inspector for the Hudson Motor Car Co. Last summer he was laid off of work and with his family came to Grayling. He was called back to work in the fall, but not feeling well, gave up his position and returned again to Grayling. Isaac was a fine young man. He made friendships wherever he went and kept them.

Surviving are his widow and one daughter Betty, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. David LaMotte and four brothers and one sister, Jerry, Frank, John, Walter and Mrs. Dolph San-carter. Those from out of town who came to be in attendance at the funeral included: Mrs. LaMotte's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Cariveau, Sr., Irving and Aloysius Cariveau and their wives, Arthur Cariveau, Mrs. Vaughn Duncan, Mrs. Archie McIntyre, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Self-hoffer and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pen-track, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. James Cariveau, Jr., and family, Jackson; Ed. Cariveau and family, Flint.

CASHER TRAPS BANK ROBBERS

Tipped Off to Plot Officials Arrange Hot Reception for Bandits.

Glencross, S. D.—Hidden in a cubby-hole above the door inside the Glencross State bank, the cashier, Paul J. Schirber, snuggled his finger against the trigger of a big pistol and anxiously watched his assistant and wife about her duties in the cage as calmly as if she did not know that presently the bank was going to be held up.

But Mrs. Schirber did know it. She knew that some time before noon three men would come in, menace her with guns and try to rob the bank. She knew that from his cubby-hole above the door her husband was going to open fire upon them and that when they fled out of the door—if they did—Sheriff Henry Johnson and his deputies would start shooting at them from the roof.

She knew that one slip on her part might mean death, but she did not falter. Her greatest fear, she said later, was that during those crucial moments after her husband's first shot started the battle he might get hurt. Yet she stuck to her post—cashier's checks, taking deposits, talking to customers—with never an indication that she knew danger hovered over her.

Treachery Paves the Way.

Treachery had paved the way for the ambush that had been laid in the bank—treachery, that is, from the viewpoint of the robbers. From the other viewpoint it was respect for the law.

Three days previously Arnold and Ed Kaiser of Timber Lake, brothers, had approached Sheriff Johnson and told him that a well-planned plot to rob the bank would come to a head with a holdup at just noon the next Monday.

"Three other men proposed to us that we join in on the robbery," the brothers said. "We refused and they said they would 'give us the works' if we told on them. But we are here to do that very thing."

Sheriff Johnson obtained all the details from them, then advised them to pretend to fall in with the plan and so lure the robbers into a trap. "But stay out of the bank yourselves, for there will be a lot of shooting," he warned them.

Ambush Is Laid.

Then the sheriff came to Glencross and notified the bank officials. With their help he arranged for the ambush to be set, with armed men in hiding, before anyone was up and about in Glencross on the day the robbery was to be committed.

"You will have to stay home that day," he told Mrs. Schirber.

"I've never missed a day on the job up to now and I do not intend to miss next Monday," the assistant cashier retorted spitefully. "A little thing like a holdup doesn't frighten me at all."

From that stand she refused to recede. She went farther and persuaded both the sheriff and the bank officials that her absence might arouse comment in so small a place as Glencross and perhaps result in warning the robbers. Seeing that they were half-convinced, she renewed her arguments and in the end won the reluctant consent of her husband for her to perform her duties as usual.

At ten o'clock on Monday morning the bandits' car arrived in Glencross. Ed Kaiser, carrying out the advice of Sheriff Johnson, was at the wheel. His brother sat beside him. By clever argument they had persuaded the other three—George De Batin, George Anderson and Melvin Scanton—that they should remain with the car during the progress of the holdup.

The Robbery Begins.

The car drew up in front of the bank, with the Kaiser boys in the front seat. The other three sauntered up to the bank from different directions and leisurely entered, one after another.

As soon as the trio had entered, Ed Kaiser snatched the ignition key from the lock and took to his heels. His brother fled to a place of safety behind the bank.

Unsuspecting, the three robbers walked into the bank. One went to the paying teller's window and presented a check to Mrs. Schirber.

Suddenly—"Stick 'em up and give us the dough," said the man who had offered the check.

In his hand a revolver appeared. Simultaneously his companions produced weapons and menaced the other bank employees. No patrons were in the place at the time.

Mrs. Schirber stepped back, her hands in the air as she had been ordered. Calmly she watched the robbers facing her gather up all the money in sight—about $1,800—and stuff it into a flour sack.

"Now, get into the vault," the bandit ordered.

Lock Her in Vault.

Again Mrs. Schirber, carrying out the part assigned her by the sheriff, which was to carry out every order given her by the robbers, obeyed. She walked into the nearest vault and heard the lock turn behind her.

Up in his cubby-hole above the door Schirber kept his finger on the trigger of his pistol, waiting for the moment when, according to his orders, he should give the signal that the robbers were leaving.

As De Batin, bringing up the rear, reached the door, Schirber drew down on him and fired.

De Batin, fatally shot, tumbled down the steps leading to the street. The sack of money slipped from his fingers.

Anderson and Scanton whirled in amazement as their companion went down with blood spurting from his wound. Instantly from the roof above Sheriff Johnson opened up on them with a shotgun. He fired one shot and Anderson dropped, killed instantly. He fired again and Scanton, who had tried to return the fire, fell, severely wounded.

Freed by Husband.
Inside the bank Schirber had climbed down from his hiding place and rushed to the vault to release his wife.

"It was horrible," said Mrs. Schirber, "but it had to be done. I am glad that I was in a vault when the killings took place. I think I should have gone to pieces."

Her husband interposed objections. "You were brave," he assured her, "as brave as anyone could have been. It took more to face those men as you did than it did for me to sit up there, hidden, and shoot at them as they left."

Incidentally some one is in for a fat reward. The trio have been identified as having pulled off several Northwest robberies. Several thousand dollars are outstanding for the men who did that.

The Kaiser brothers voluntarily went to the Timber Lake jail to be held as material witnesses in the case against Scanton, which will go on trial as soon as he has recovered from his wounds. Incidentally it is believed they know more of the gang's operations than they have admitted.

British Work to Stop, Not to Punish, Crime

Detroit, Mich.—London's crime record is far cleaner than that of Detroit or any other large American city because the British people place prevention of crime before its punishment. Sir Hugh Turnbull, London police commissioner, said on a recent visit here.

Sir Hugh gave, in addition, the following reasons why the streets of London are far safer than those of Detroit:

1. Because England has fewer laws and those are strictly enforced.

2. Because the financial status of the offender is allowed to have no bearing on punishment.

3. Because a social disapproval of law breaking exists in England and crime is not fashionable.

4. There is no prohibition law in England.

5. Police are easy on first offenders and very severe on habitual criminals.

6. Because the British police work to keep people out of jail rather than to put them in.

For these reasons, the British police chief said, London, with its huge population, had not one homicide last year, compared with Detroit's scores of murders.

Sir Hugh visited and inspected the Detroit police department and praised its efficiency in the actual detection of crime. He was particularly interested in the city police radio, which broadcasts orders to roving scout cars. He predicted that radio will be used internationally as a police weapon in future years.

"Air-Guard" Network Planned by Germany

Berlin.—A great network of "air-guards" to protect the population against aerobchemical attack will soon be established in Germany as the result of recent tests in East Prussia. The tests were intended to show the effectiveness of the telephone alarm in reporting enemy aircraft to military and civil authorities. As the treaty of Versailles forbids Germany to maintain military aircraft, ordinary commercial planes were used.

In the tests, military and civil officials co-operated in warding off the "enemy" planes. General Von Miltelberger, inspector of the Reichswehr's arms schools, supervised the operations.

Wolves Force Ontario Sheep Herders to Quit

Montreal.—Wolf packs are terrorizing farmers and settlers in the vicinity of Stanhope township, Haliburton, Ont. So seriously have the wolves ravaged sheep flocks that only one farmer is continuing his efforts toward sheep raising. Only a few years ago no fewer than twenty-five men were employed in this way, but continual attacks by marauders gradually decreased the flocks until frantic farmers sold off the remainder to prevent further loss. So numerous and daring are the intruders that children who used to play to make their way across the fields to school are now driven to the door by their parents in motor cars or buggies. Stanhope residents will attempt to organize a hunt.

Bodies of Soldiers Discovered in Ice

Rome.—The bodies of two Austrian soldiers, killed during the World War, have been found preserved in the ice of the Marolatta glacier in the Dolomites. One of them has been identified. Four bodies of Austrian soldiers were found earlier in the summer under the snow of a high mountain pass.

N. Y. Woman Lost 14 Pounds of Fat

One 85 Cent Bottle of Kruschen Salts Did It

"I am starting on my second bottle of Kruschen Salts and am real pleased with results. I take it for reducing and so far have lost 14 pounds and I think it is doing wonders for me. I do not feel so tired evenings when I get home from work."

A generous bottle of Kruschen Salts lasts 4 weeks costs but 85 cents at Mac & Gidley's or any drug store in America—take one half teaspoon in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast—cut out pastry and fatty meals—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—that will help Kruschen take off your fat.

Before the bottle is empty surplus fat is leaving you—indolence changes to activity—you'll feel younger—eyes will brighten—step grows spry. Millions know this—you ought to know it. Kruschen Salts is the ideal treatment for constipation, indigestion, headaches, nervousness and acidity.

Take Kruschen every morning—it's the little daily dose that does it. If not joyfully satisfied after the first bottle—money back.

Allenru 48 Hour Week-end Treatment For Rheumatism

SUFFERS NOW JOYFUL—THANKFUL—ASTONISHED

Pain Agony And Swelling Gave Over Week-end or Money Back Says Mac & Gidley

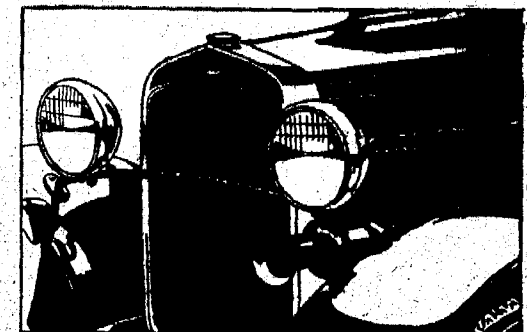

LARGE 8 OZ. BOTTLE 85c.

They call this the Allenru week-end treatment for Rheumatism, Sciatica and Neuritis because you can go to bed on Friday Night—stay there as much as possible till Monday morning and while there, drive the uric acid from your ailing joints and muscles.

But during that time you must take Allenru as directed—for Allenru acts with double speed when the body is relaxed and rested and this week-end method is particularly valuable to folks who don't want to lose time thru the weeks.

You can purchase Allenru from Mac & Gidley or any progressive druggist in America—a large 8 ounce bottle 85 cents and money back if it doesn't do as advertised.

ANOTHER EXAMPLE OF FORD VALUE

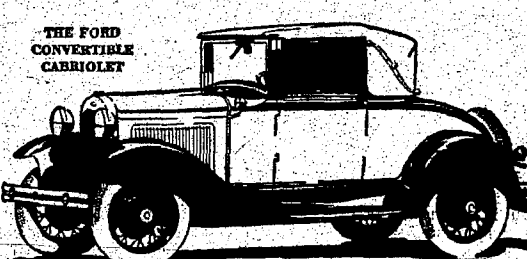

Bright, enduring RUSTLESS STEEL is used for many exposed bright metal parts of the Ford

WHEN YOU BUY a Ford you buy enduring beauty. The body finish is made to last for the life of the car and practically all exposed bright metal parts except the bumpers are made of enduring Rustless Steel.

This Rustless Steel has great tensile strength. It is the same bright metal all the way through. A salt test equivalent to forty years' service under the severest weather conditions failed to have any effect on its brilliance. It never requires polishing. All you do is wipe it with a damp cloth, as you do your windshield.

This is just one of many features that show the substantial worth of the Ford. In speed, comfort, safety, economy and long life—in the richness of its finish and upholstery—it brings you everything you want or need in a motor car at an unusually low price.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES

A good stand of alfalfa is easily injured by overgrazing. Alfalfa should not be pastured the first year and only lightly the second. It is doubtful if it is advisable to pasture alfalfa at all in the East because of the difficulty of getting a good stand in this section. Hogs are less injurious than are other livestock.

Don't turn the dairy cows on pasture too early in the spring. Early grass is watery and immature. Wait until the grass is 3 or 4 inches high, and then turn them on it—but only a few hours a day at first—and continue to feed grain, hay, and silage for a while, to lessen the danger of bloat.

Thorough cleaning of seed wheat will reduce losses from weeds in wheat fields. Cleaning removes not only weed seeds, including wild oats, but also shrunken grains and broken kernels. These weed seeds and broken kernels can be used as feed for poultry and livestock. Several types of efficient cleaning machines designed for farm use are now on the market. Farmers' Bulletin 1542-F, which may be obtained from the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., describes several of these machines and tells how to operate them.

Sweetclover For Fertility
To get the most fertilizing value from sweetclover grown as a green-manure crop plow it under when the new growth of the second year is from 6 to 15 inches tall. At this stage the maximum amount of plant food is stored in the roots and stems. Plowing under later will add more organic matter to the soil but will not increase the quantity of nitrogen. Moreover plowing under the heavy growth may deplete the soil moisture to the detriment of the succeeding crop.

Reduce Corn Earworm Injury
Many farmers, especially in the Southern and Central States, believe that injury by corn earworms is inevitable, and do little to combat this pest. A few simple control measures limit its depredations, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Plant field corn as early as possible to get good germination and growth. Later plantings are more severely damaged. It is also important to plant all the field corn for a locality or community as promptly as possible, so the plants will come into silk at about the same time. Selection of varieties with husks that extend from 2 to 6 inches beyond the tip of the ear and close tightly around the silks also aids greatly in preventing earworm injury. Fertilization, crop rotation, the use of legumes, and other measures which increase the productivity of the soil and improve the crop help to make up for losses from earworms. Farmers' Bulletin 1631-F, The Corn Earworm as an Enemy of Field Corn in the Eastern States, may be obtained from the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Before And After Calving
Several days before the cow calves, reduce the quantity of silage and hay slightly. If grain is fed, cut the amount down to 3 or 4 pounds a day. Ground oats mixed with wheat bran and linseed meal are good feeds at this time. The drinking water should not be too cold. For several hours before calving, feed very little hay or silage. A warm bran mash is beneficial. After calving, continue to feed sparingly. A cow that has been dry for six weeks to two months, and has been fed liberally while in milk and during the dry period, should be in good flesh at calving time. Generally speaking, after calving the appetite of thin cows is somewhat keener than that of fat cows. Thin cows should be put on full feed in about two weeks, and fat cows in about four weeks.

Inside Information

Unbleached sheeting makes excellent slip-on covers for mattresses.

Serve different kinds of cereal for breakfast. The same kind every morning becomes monotonous. Salt the cereal sufficiently and train the children to eat it without sugar.

To make mushroom sauce for steak, wash a pound of fresh mushrooms, separate the caps from the stems, trim the stems, and cut into pieces. Cook in 2 tablespoons of butter in a covered pan five to ten minutes at moderate heat. Season and serve with steak. Canned mushrooms may be used.

Wheat is said to be headed for its 1895 price but so far we haven't heard that anyone is going to revive the free silver issue.

STATE PLUMBING LAW

(This is the sixth of a series of articles regarding the State plumbing law, published at request of the Michigan Division of Plumbing.)

ACT 235, P. A. 1929

An act to provide for the licensing of plumbers, the supervision and inspection of plumbing and the adoption and enforcement of minimum standards therefor by the state commissioner of health, with the concurrence of the advisory council of health.

The People of the State of Michigan enact:

Section 12. Any person who shall work as a master or journeyman plumber for compensation without a permit or license, or any plumber who shall do any act prohibited in this act, or fail to obey a lawful order, rule or regulation of the state commissioner of health, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and may be fined not less than ten dollars nor more than fifty dollars or imprisoned in the county jail for not more than thirty days, or both fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court. Each day of violation shall be a separate offense. Any person who shall willfully make any false statement to the commissioner applying for a license or permit, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to the above penalty. Any master plumber who shall employ an apprentice on plumbing representing him to be a journeyman, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to the above penalty.

Section 13. All fees and moneys received by the state commissioner of health from the licensing of plumbers, and any other income which may be received under the provisions of this act, shall be paid into the general fund. All salaries and other moneys expended under the provisions of this act shall be paid through the state treasurer on properly drawn vouchers signed by the state commissioner of health, but no expense or claim shall be incurred or paid in excess of the amount received from the fees herein provided. Section 16. Nothing herein contained shall be construed as repealing act number two hundred twenty-two of the Public Acts of nineteen hundred one, as amended, or act number one hundred sixty-seven of the Public Acts of nineteen hundred seventeen, as amended, except as the same may be in conflict herewith.

A simple scorch stain can often be removed by moistening the spot with water and placing in the sun. For more serious cases on white cotton or linen, hydrogen peroxide may be used in this way: moisten a white cotton cloth with it, place over the stain, cover with a dry cloth, and iron with a medium hot iron. Do not allow the iron to come in contact with the fabric after it is moistened with peroxide or with the moist cloth used over it. The iron may leave rust stains on the garment if care is not exercised.

WAIVED

Asked if he wished to waive the jury, Charley Forge, a Dallas (Texas) negro, charged with operating a "pharmacy" without being registered, began to flourish his right arm wildly at the box, today.

"What are you doing?" asked the puzzled prosecutor.

"Wavin' that there jury, boss," the defendant answered.—West's Docket.

Limiting the Requirements
"You have made a great point of your experience as a farmer."

"Yes," answered Senator Sorghum. "My constituents are straightforward and practical. They say we have enough great statesmen who know how to run governments. What they want is some plain energetic citizen who can show 'em how to run a farm."—Washington Star.

WHY THEY JOIN

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois

Colton was very proud when he was pledged to a fraternity, and when three months later he was initiated, and one of the brothers attached a jeweled pin to his vest he was delighted.

If some one had asked Colton what motives induced him to become a member of the organization he might not have been able to give a convincing answer immediately, but it was not many months before anyone who knew him well could have given the reason.

Colton had no thought of contributing anything to the advantage of the organization. He was in it only for the prestige or the power which it could give him.

He was politically ambitious, and he expected his fraternity to further these ambitions in every way possible. He had no special principles to guide his actions except the principle of self-advancement.

Outside of the organizations to which he belonged you would not hear a great deal of Walters. He was not a man who pushed himself into the front seat at any meeting he attended. He was not disgruntled if he did not sit on the platform when prominent people were in town. He never wanted an office, and if his name were suggested he could always conjure up some good reason why some other man was better fitted for the place than he himself was. But he knew every man in his fraternity, and he liked everybody and everybody liked him. There are all sorts of men in any group of thirty or thirty-five, but Walters seemed to understand each man's own peculiarities and to be able to adapt himself to his particular idiosyncrasies. It was to him that each man went when he was in any sort of trouble or wanted help of any kind.

Walters had joined the organizations to which he belonged not so much for what he could get out of them but for what he could put in. Having joined, he felt his obligation to contribute something. Unselfish as he was, never looking out for his own advancement, he yet got more pleasure and profit from his association than did Colton who never gave a thought to anyone but himself.

Iowa Brothers Set New World's Record in Ford

IOWA state officials and civic leaders witnessed the establishment of a new world's non-motor, non-wheel stop automobile endurance record recently, when Ralph and Roland Davis, brothers, brought their Model A Ford to a halt at the east entrance of the state capitol in Des Moines after 2,775 hours and 46 minutes of continuous driving.

When Governor Hammill, standing with Walter Ferrell, executive secretary of the Iowa Chapter of the American Automobile Association, gave the signal to stop, the Ford had traveled a total of 47,123.3 miles over all sorts of roads in all sorts of weather and had exceeded by 25,626 miles and more than 2,225 hours the American non-stop endurance record which, therefore, officially recognized, was made by a much heavier car under almost ideal conditions on the Indianapolis Speedway last year. In the course of the endurance run, the car, known as "The City of Des Moines," covered practically the entire state of Iowa.

Engineers who examined the Ford at the conclusion of the run asserted that neither engine nor chassis showed evidence of the grueling strains to which they were subjected during the 115 days of continuous driving. Both apparently, according to the engineers, would have been good for another 10,000 miles or more.

School boards spending as much as $300 for school buildings would be compelled to advertise for competitive bids under a bill introduced by Rep. McBride. Other proposals are for employment agencies; permits for electric wiring; exempting proceeds of life insurance from taxation under the inheritance laws; establishing a prison clinic at Jackson for the mental testing of convicts; extension of good time allowances to state prisoners; putting reflectors as well as lights on all motor vehicles more than 60 inches wide, requiring return of license plates taken from junked automobiles.

Transfer Soldiers Home.
 Senator Arthur Wood has introduced a bill providing for the transfer of the Soldiers Home at Grand Rapids to the federal government. He pointed out that the maintenance would increase to large sums as soon as World War veterans to be cared for increased in numbers.

Governor Brucker has signed a bill sponsored by Senator Chet Howell of Saginaw, providing that the state's receipts from boxing and wrestling shall be divided into two equal parts one for the purchase of athletic equipment for public and parochial schools and the other for state park equipment.

Invite President Hoover.
 Michigan would invite President Hoover and his family to Michigan to establish the summer "White House" under a resolution submitted by Rep. Earl Burhans of Paw Paw. The secretary of state would extend the invitation and the site would be decided upon by a committee appointed for the purpose.

News Review of Current Events the World Over

President Hoover Urges Economy in National Expenditures—Earthquake Practically Destroys City of Managua—Knut Rockne Dead.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

was no question, however, that he was rested, and greatly so, as a result of his leisurely trip.

One of his first announcements was that a tax increase could be avoided if his budget and other recommendations for expenditures were not increased by congress next winter. To that end he appealed to the nation to bring pressure on congress against "the demands of sectional or group interests."

The statement was made in the face of lagging income tax receipts indicating a treasury deficit of perhaps $500,000,000 at the close of the current fiscal year, June 30. It was regarded as part of the President's effort to mobilize public sentiment against further soldier jobs legislation, farm relief appropriations or similar proposals in the new congress to convene in December.

Senator William E. Borah, Republican, insurgent, Idaho, retorted, through the press, that "the record is that congress has appropriated less than the budget bureau has recommended each session for the last few years." He declared his willingness to cut off the $30,000,000 provided for the administration's naval building program.

A BLIZZARD in Rocky mountain and plains states took a toll of eleven lives, including five children, two men and a woman in Colorado. Scores were in a serious condition from frostbite and exposure.

Thousands of cattle perished in a wide area including Wyoming, Colorado, South Dakota, Nebraska and the western parts of Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas. In the southern part of the storm area, peach, apricot and other stone-fruit crops were ruined.

The child victims of the storm were pupils at Pleasant Hill school, Town-er, Colo. The morning of the blizzard Maude Moser, the teacher, ended classes because of the storm. Carl Miller arrived to take the pupils to their homes in the school bus. Miss Moser started to walk to her home. There were twenty-two children in the bus when Miller started, all between the ages of eight and thirteen.

Three miles from Pleasant Hill the bus plowed into a snow-drift ten feet deep and stalled. Outside the mass of falling snow was a curtain, obscuring the road, tracks and covering fences. Miller tried to back toward the school but could not get the wheels of the bus free from the drift.

After remaining with the children for many hours, Miller realized he must get aid or all would perish. In the driving storm he started out, thinking he could reach a farmhouse. Struggling on for more than three miles he felt exhausted in a cornfield and perished.

Five of the children were dead when a rescuing party found them, but the rest were saved.

There were other tragedies in the storm that swept the mountain states and other sections; but this tragedy was one to arouse the utmost pity. Bravely the children met their fate! They sang and boxed and played to keep warm, as they were told by the driver before he left them to seek aid, as urged by the young leader put in charge, until the merciless wind and chill benumbed them into helpless drowsiness.

KNUTE KENNETH Rockne, football coach of the University of Notre Dame, with a name that became a collegiate byword, plunged to his death with five fellow passengers and two pilots on a Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc. air liner in the mid-Kansas grazing country.

Witnesses said the craft, flying through clouds and fog, lost a wing in the air and hurtled to the ground like a crippled bird.

Rockne had only recently recovered from an illness which a year ago had threatened to terminate his brilliant coaching career. Last year, however, he developed one of the very best of his many excellent teams, and made a schedule for 1931 which indicated that he looked forward to an equally great team this year.

American football sustains a great loss. Americans lose one who typified the best in useful, wide-awake citizenship.

President Hoover in an official statement described the death of Rockne as "a national loss."

THE development of Fascism in Italy is to be marked further on July 1 of this year by the banishment of the two great god-men and true from the penal courts of Mussolini. Justices are abolished with the reform of the courts of assizes, or those which try criminal cases, which Premier Mussolini will put in effect three months hence, and for them will be substituted a juridical committee, or what's called a "college" consisting of two professional judges and five nonprofessional citizens who are called "assessors."

But every one cannot be an assessor. Only special categories of citizens who have high moral and intellectual, if not political attainments, will run the risk of having their names in the wheel to be drawn as assessors.

The reform of the courts of assizes and the abolition of the jury is a result of the reformed penal code in Italy, a work on which Minister of Justice Rocca and his collaborators have labored for five years. The reform was brought about by what were considered scandalous decisions often returned by juries made up of men of insufficient intellectual attainments to distinguish between the facts and the emotional bunk of the lawyers.

Discontent with these abuses had accumulated in less than a century for the jury system was only introduced in Italy in 1848.

The emergency decree enormously curtailed the vital civic rights anchored to the German constitution. Basing the action on article 48 of the constitution, enabling the President to take dictatorial measures when "security and order are threatened," the decree curtails the personal rights of citizens such as the freedom of speech, the inviolability of homes, freedom of the press, secrecy in the mails, the right to meet when unarmed, the right to form associations, or own property.

Public announcements of political gatherings must be confined to the barest facts. Newspapers infringing upon the terms of the decree may be suspended for eight weeks, and other publications may be suspended for six months.

The public speaking "muzzle decree," the old-timers eloquently claim, is more severe than a "kase" in the days of the former Kaiser.

During adjournment committees will continue working on a mass of internal reform projects, and the reichstag can be called together at any time on the demand of one-third of the members, or the council of elders can authorize such a special call by majority vote.

RUSSIA bade open defiance to the international grain conference at Rome when Abraham Kissin, Soviet delegate, declared that, far from reducing her wheat production, his country would increase it this year and that instead of giving up her policy of so-called "dumping" she intended to increase her wheat exports in order to pay for her imports, which exceed $500,000,000 a year.

"Any proposal to exclude from economic intercourse a nation occupying one-sixth of the world's surface is doomed to failure," Kissin said. "Russia's population is increasing at the rate of 4,000,000 a year, which is proportionately twice as great as the increase of Europe's population, therefore we must increase our wheat production."

The United States Agricultural department has estimated that spring wheat plantings would be reduced 14.7 per cent. This exceeded the hope of the farm board for a 10 per cent cut.

THE Cuban Supreme court has given a decision against President Machado's suspension of newspaper publication, holding that he acted in violation of the constitutional provision for free speech when he shut down presses which had published information and criticism distasteful to the government.

Mr. Machado set forth the necessity of public security and order as reason for the prohibition of publication but without any showing that there was an emergency or that the newspaper comment was contrary to the public good.

A VAST financial organization with millions of capital to relieve the cotton producers of the South from the distress caused by low prices of the commodity, is declared to be in process of formation by Chicago capitalists, headed by William Wrigley, Jr.

Details of the scheme have not been revealed, but the main idea is understood to be to accumulate large quantities of baled cotton and hold it for higher prices. Cotton is now selling at prices ruinous to the planters and is a drug on the world market.

The plan is also said to embrace a system of trading credits by which the vast surplus of cotton will be exchanged for commodities, of which the cotton growers stand in dire need. These include farm equipment of all kinds, groceries and clothing.

Farm prices are said to be the lowest in twenty years. Isn't it strange that when things are cheap we don't have the money to buy?
